ONTARIO
SUPERIOR COURT OF JUSTICE

BETWEEN:

CELIA SANKAR

Plaintiff

- and -

BELL MOBILITY INC. and BELL CANADA ENTERPRISES INC.

Defendants

Proceeding under the Class Proceedings Act, 1992

STATEMENT OF CLAIM

TO THE DEFENDANTS

A LEGAL PROCEEDING HAS BEEN COMMENCED AGAINST YOU by the plaintiff. The claim made against you is set out in the following pages.

IF YOU WISH TO DEFEND THIS PROCEEDING, you or an Ontario lawyer acting for you must prepare a statement of defence in Form 18A prescribed by the Rules of Civil Procedure, serve it on the plaintiff's lawyer or, where the plaintiff does not have a lawyer; serve it on the plaintiff, and file it, with proof of service, in this court office, WITHIN TWENTY DAYS after this statement of claim is served on you, if you are served in Ontario.

If you are served in another province or territory of Canada or in the United States of America, the period for serving and filing your statement of defence is forty days. If you are served outside Canada and the United States of America, the period is sixty days.

Instead of serving and filing a statement of defence, you may serve and file a notice of intent to defend in Form 18B prescribed by the Rules of Civil Procedure. This will entitle you to ten more days within which to serve and file your statement of defence.

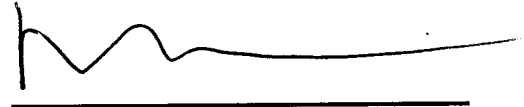

IF YOU FAIL TO DEFEND THIS PROCEEDING, JUDGMENT MAY BE GIVEN AGAINST YOU IN YOUR ABSENCE AND WITHOUT FURTHER NOTICE TO YOU. IF YOU WISH TO DEFEND THIS PROCEEDING BUT ARE UNABLE TO PAY LEGAL FEES, LEGAL AID MAY BE AVAILABLE TO YOU BY CONTACTING A LOCAL LEGAL AID OFFICE.

IF YOU PAY THE PLAINTIFF'S CLAIM, and $25,000 for costs, within the time for serving and filing your statement of defence, you may move to have this proceeding dismissed by the court. If you believe the amount claimed for costs is excessive, you may pay the plaintiff's claim and $400.00 for costs and have the costs assessed by the court.

CLAIM

1. The plaintiff claims:

- a) an order certifying this action as a class proceeding and appointing the plaintiff as the representative of a class to be certified by the Court;
- b) general damages in the sum of $100,000,000;
- c) an order, pursuant to s. 24 of the Class Proceedings Act, 1992, directing an aggregate assessment of damages;
- d) an order, pursuant to s. 23 of the Class Proceedings Act, 1992, admitting into evidence statistical information;
- e) an order that the damages be paid by the defendants into a common fund and distributed to the class members in an appropriate manner as directed by the Court;
- f) a declaration that the defendants have breached their contracts with members of the class;
- g) a declaration that the defendants have engaged in unfair practices under the Consumer Protection Act, 2002, S.O. 2002, c. 30 (“CPA”);
- h) a mandatory injunction restraining the defendants from enforcing or relying on their illegal contractual terms, and a mandatory injunction restraining the defendants from carrying on such unfair practices in the future;

- i) a declaration that the defendants charged or received illegal fees or payments contrary to the CPA as a result of the expiry date policies in respect of its pre-paid wireless services;
- j) a mandatory injunction restraining the defendants from charging or receiving illegal fees or payments in the future;
- k) punitive damages in the sum of $10,000,000;
- l) pre-judgment and post-judgment interest;
- m) the costs of this action on a substantial indemnity basis;
- n) the costs of administering the plan of distribution of the recovery in this action;
and
- o) such further and other relief as may be required and as this Honourable Court deems to be just.

THE PARTIES

2. The plaintiff, Celia Sankar, (“Sankar”) lives in Elliot Lake, Ontario.

3. The defendant, Bell Mobility Inc. is incorporated pursuant to the laws of Canada with its head office in Montreal, Quebec. It carries on business throughout Canada, including in Ontario. Bell Mobility Inc. is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the defendant, Bell Canada Enterprises Inc., a company incorporated pursuant to the laws of Canada with its head office in Verdun, Quebec. It also carries on business throughout Canada, including in Ontario.

THE CLASS

4. The plaintiff brings this action on her own behalf, and on behalf of all persons in Ontario who purchased or otherwise acquired pre-paid mobile telephone services from the defendants between May 4, 2010 and the date on which the certification of this action is finally determined (the "class" or "class members").

BELL'S PRE-PAID WIRELESS COMMUNICATION SERVICES

5. The defendants (collectively "Bell") own and operate a pre-paid wireless telephone service across Canada under the brand names: Virgin Mobile Canada ("Virgin"); Bell Mobility; and Solo Mobile ("Solo").

6. Customers of Bell's pre-paid wireless service are not required to sign a long-term contract with Bell and do not need to possess a credit card or even a bank account. As a result, Bell's pre-paid wireless customers are predominantly, what Bell characterizes as, "lower-value subscribers", including youth, new Canadians and persons with low income. As a group, Bell's pre-paid wireless customers are particularly vulnerable to the unfair business practices that are described below.

7. In order to obtain Bell's pre-paid wireless service, customers need only acquire a mobile telephone compatible with Bell's network and purchase pre-paid credits which may be applied to various Bell services including, but not limited to, voice minutes, text messages, data usage and other products such as ring tones (the "Services").

8. Each customer has a credit balance reflecting the amount of credit available to use the Services. The credit balance can be increased or "topped up" when a customer makes a manual pre-payment for the Services ("Manual Pre-Payments") in one of three ways as described below. Alternatively, the customer can arrange with Bell for the credit balance to be automatically topped-up (“Automatic Pre-Payments”).

9. There are three types of Manual Pre-Payments:

- (a) Pre-paid Cards: Class members can purchase pre-paid cards that are sold in specified denominations at retail locations such as drug stores, convenience stores and supermarkets. Virgin and Bell Mobility pre-paid cards are sold in denominations of $15, $25, $50 and $100. Solo pre-paid cards are sold in denominations of $20 and $30. Samples of Bell pre-paid cards are attached as Appendix “A”;
- (b) Debit Pre-Payment: Bell permits Virgin and Bell Mobility customers to pre-pay for Services from their bank accounts (if they have them) using the “Interac” service; and
- (c) Credit Card Pre-Payment: Bell permits all class members to make pre-payments from their credit cards (if they have them).

EXPIRY OF CREDIT BALANCES

10. The Manual Pre-Payments purport to be subject to the following expiry dates, after which Bell claims that it is entitled to appropriate any unused credit balances. In particular:

(a) Virgin and Bell Mobility

Amount of Payment	Expiry in Days
$15-$24	30

$25-$99	60
$100-$200	365

(b) Solo

Amount of Payment	Expiry in Days
$20	45

11. Once a Manual Pre-Payment is made, Bell assigns an expiry date to the credit balance, which it communicates to the customer in a standard format. The customer may see the expiry dates displayed by accessing his or her account by way of his or her mobile telephone, or by way of the Virgin, Bell Mobility or Solo websites.

12. Automatic Pre-Payments can be made with credit cards, or debit (in the case of Virgin and Bell Mobility) on a monthly basis, or when balances fall below a set amount ($5.00 in the case of Virgin and Bell Mobility and $2.00 in the case of Solo). As long as Automatic Pre-Payments continue to be made, credit balances do not expire. If a customer stops making Automatic Pre-Payments, Bell treats the final Automatic Pre-Payment as if it were a Manual Pre-Payment.

13. Bell does not specify the time of day upon which the credit balance will expire. By contrast, however, Bell's systemic practice is to terminate credit balances, and seize the monies in customers' accounts, at any time during the expiry date. In the case of Sankar, as described below, such seizures took place before 8:00 a.m. and between noon and 2:00 p.m. during the stated expiry dates.

CONTRACTUAL TERMS

14. The terms and conditions of service for Bell's pre-paid wireless customers ("Terms of Service") are described in booklets published in respect of each brand (Virgin, Bell Mobility and Solo) and are also published online on the website of each brand. The Terms of Service are prepared by Bell and are in standard form in respect of each brand, and purport to be binding between Bell and all class members.

15. The specific terms purporting to permit Bell to seize "expired" credit balances for itself are contained within the Terms of Service applicable to customers of each brand (Virgin, Bell Mobility and Solo). Each of the Terms of Service explicitly provides that balances can only be forfeited after, not on, the expiry dates. In particular:

- (a) Terms and Conditions of Your Services – Virgin Mobile Canada.

About Top Ups

All Top Ups (excluding those used for prepaid mobile Internet stick accounts) have specified active periods and an expiry date. The active period starts on the date you place the Top Up on your account. Any Top Up balance left on your account after the expiry date is forfeited and non-refundable. If you Top Up your account before your existing credit expires or is used up, then your existing credit is added to the new Top Up value and the active period of the earlier Top Up is extended so that the later expiry date of the two Top Ups is valid for the entire amount. Excepting instances when your Device has been lost or stolen, existing credits cannot be transferred between different accounts. [emphasis added]

- (b) Bell Mobility Terms of Service

12. Prepaid Service

If you are a Prepaid client you are subject to this Agreement. It is in effect on a month-to-month basis until your Services are terminated or your Device is deactivated due to inactivity as set out below. You will not receive a monthly bill or any call or usage detail records. Amounts will be deducted from your prepaid account (i) immediately for usage and Pay per use Services, and (ii) every month for recurring features and services. If your account remains at $0 for 120 days or such other period as Bell may notify you, your Services and Device will be deactivated and you will lose your telephone number (or other identifiers). If you wish to reactivate, a re-activation fee may apply and you may be assigned a new telephone number. Certain prepaid features you subscribe to require a positive balance in your prepaid account to remain active. Services may be cancelled or suspended by Bell without notice if a negative account balance occurs, or if Services are otherwise not paid for, to the extent not prohibited by any law that applies to Bell. If you use an Automatic Top-Up Program to top up your prepaid account, funds may take up to 48 hours to be deposited in your account. The top-up amount will include an amount to clear any negative balance. Value deposited into your prepaid account is available as prepaid credits for your Service and such credits are non-refundable, non-transferable, and will expire after a specified time period. Using your Device as a modem for a computer, tablet or to provide Internet access services to any other devices is not permitted on a prepaid account. For more information about Bell Prepaid Service, please visit our website at bell.ca/wirelessprepaid. Or call 1 888 537-9999 from a landline or #321 from your mobile phone. You must provide us with accurate name, address and contact information at all times for notice purposes. [emphasis added]

(c) Solo Mobile – Terms & Conditions of Wireless Service

12. Prepaid Service. If you are a Prepaid client you are subject to this Agreement. It is in effect on a month-to-month basis until your Services are terminated or your Device is deactivated due to inactivity as set out below. You will not receive a monthly bill or any call or usage detail records. Amounts will be deducted from your prepaid account (i) immediately for usage and Pay per use Services, and (ii) every month for recurring features and services. You must provide us with accurate name, address and contact information at all times for notice purposes. [emphasis added]

16. As set out above, notwithstanding the fact that Bell has no contractual entitlement to claim and appropriate unused balances until after the expiry date, Bell's systemic class-wide practice is to take these monies at some point on the expiry date.

THE PLAINTIFF'S CLAIM

17. Sankar purchased a Virgin pre-paid mobile telephone on or about April 28, 2011.

18. On August 3, 2011, Sankar made a Manual Pre-Payment of $15.00, plus tax, by making a credit card pre-payment. This "top-up" brought her balance to approximately $45.00. Subsequently, Sankar checked the balance on-line via her mobile telephone and viewed a message which stated: "Balance Expiry Date: 03-Sep- 2011". When she accessed her account online at the Virgin website, she viewed a message that stated that the expiry date for her balance was "September 03, 2011".

19. Up to and including September 2, 2011, Sankar had a credit balance of at least $40.00. She did not use the Services in any way to cause this balance to be reduced. Sometime before 8:00 a.m. on September 3, 2011, Bell removed the credit from her account leaving her with a balance of $0.00.

20. On January 19, 2012, Sankar made three further credit card pre-payments, each of $15.00 plus tax, bringing her balance to $58.60. Subsequently, she checked the balance via her mobile telephone and viewed a message which stated: "Balance Expiry Date: 19-Feb- 2012." When she accessed her account online at the Virgin website, she viewed a message that stated that the expiry date for her balance was "February 19, 2012".

21. As of noon on February 19, 2012, Sankar still had a credit of $58.60 in her account. Sometime between noon and approximately 2:00 p.m., Bell took the money from her account, leaving her with a balance of $0.00.

APPLICATION OF CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT, 2002

22. Sankar is a “consumer” within the meaning of the Consumer Protection Act, 2002, SO 2002, c. 30, Sch A (“CPA”).

23. Bell is a “supplier” within the meaning of the CPA.

24. The provision of pre-paid wireless services by Bell to members of the class are “consumer transactions” within the meaning of the CPA.

25. The Terms of Service, excerpted at paragraph 15, above, are “consumer agreements” and “future performance agreements” within the meaning of the CPA.

26. The Manual Pre-Payments are “consumer transactions” and “future performance agreements” within the meaning of the CPA and “gift cards,” and “gift card agreements” within the meaning of Ontario Regulation 17/05 (the “Gift Card Regulation”) promulgated pursuant to the CPA.

27. To the extent that the Terms of Service purport to require consumers to arbitrate their disputes, and purport to override the applicability of Ontario and Canadian law, those Terms of Service are illegal and unenforceable. The plaintiff pleads and relies on sections 2, 7 and 8 of the CPA.

28. The expiry of Manual Pre-Payments is illegal and contrary to section 25.3(1) of the Gift Card Regulation, and constitutes an “unfair practice” within the meaning of the CPA.

29. The seizure of “expired” Manual Pre-Payments results in Bell charging fees or receiving payments from consumers which are illegal and contrary to section 25.4(1)(b) of the Gift Card Regulation and 98 of the CPA, and constitute an “unfair practice” within the meaning of the CPA.

30. Moreover, Bell misleads and deceives customers in respect of the expiry of credit balances, as set out above. This is an “unfair practice” within the meaning of the CPA.

31. The terms of the contract between Bell and the class members in respect of the expiry of credit balances are adverse to the class members and inequitable and are “unconscionable representations” within the meaning of the CPA.

32. On April 3, 2012 Sankar provided Bell with notice of this claim pursuant to s. 92 of the CPA, on behalf of herself and members of the class.

BREACH OF CONTRACT

33. As set out above, it is a contractual term between Bell and all class members that balances that Bell may only appropriate credit balances after the stated expiry date.

34. Bell breaches its contracts with all class members as a result of its systemic practice of seizing, and converting to its own use, credit balances remaining in consumers’ accounts on the stated expiry dates.

35. Moreover, Manual Pre-Payments are subject to illegal expiry dates. By operation of s. 25.3(2) of the Gift Card Regulation, such expiry dates are rendered inoperative, and Bell’s appropriation of the credit balances of the class members is therefore in breach of its contracts with its class members.

36. As a result of Bell's breaches of contract, the plaintiff and members of class have lost the value of their credit balances.

UNJUST ENRICHMENT

37. Bell has been enriched by the amount of the balances of Manual Pre-Payments that it has taken pursuant to the illegal expiry dates. Class members have suffered a corresponding deprivation. There is no juristic reason justifying Bell retaining the amounts in question. The expiry dates associated with the Manual Pre-Payments are illegal and do not provide a juristic reason.

PUNITIVE DAMAGES

38. Class members are entitled to punitive damages as a result of the unlawful, callous, highhanded, and arbitrary actions of Bell as set out above.

A CLASS PROCEEDING IS APPROPRIATE

39. The class members are vulnerable and cannot match the resources of Bell. The individual claims of each class member would not be economical to pursue individually. The class members would be denied access to justice in the absence of a class proceeding.

40. It is unlikely that an individual could or would seek prospective relief to deter future misconduct by Bell. Moreover, Bell is sufficiently large and well-resourced that an individual lawsuit would be unlikely to have any significant impact on its behaviour. This class proceeding will either produce a voluntary change in the behaviour of Bell or result in a court order which will compel a change in its behaviour.

41. The plaintiff pleads and relies on the Consumer Protection Act, 2002, SO 2002, c 30, Sch A, including, without limiting the generality of the forgoing, sections 1, 7, 8, 11, 14, 15, 17, 18, 22, 92, 98, 100 and 101.

42. The plaintiff pleads and relies on sections 23, 25.1, 25.3, 25.4, and 25.5 of the Gift Card Regulation.

43. The plaintiff pleads and relies on Class Proceedings Act, 1992, SO 1992, c 6, and the Courts of Justice Act, RSO 1990, c C-43.

44. The plaintiff proposes that this action be tried in Toronto.
